"Hey, what's this?"

Cali and Miles looked up from the jigsaw they were doing to see Castor standing next to them, holding an old fashioned joystick.

"It's a stress relieving device that Dad got for Uncle James" said Miles.

"Cool" said Castor. "How do you use it?"

"You plug in into a big keyboard, turn on the TV, hold the device and lots of soothing lights and geometrical shapes appear on the screen".

"Wow" said Castor, impressed.

"I don't think it works though" Cali said seriously. "Dad gets really mad and yells at the TV every time he uses it".
